

Something special

There's something incredibly romantic, even magical, about hosting your dream wedding, or private dinner party, in a Castle. At Darver Castle, the management and staff go to great lengths to make your special event unique and personal.

Get a feel for what could be the experience you've always dreamed of on Sunday, July 6, 2pm to 6pm when the Castle, (which by the way has a wonderful Ceremonial room where you can exchange your vows) hosts a spectacular Wedding Fair. Live music, Irish dancers, funky finger food, a host of local exhibitors and a wedding fashion show featuring gowns from award winning designer Edel Tuite, a selection of gowns and bridesmaids dresses from The Bridal Agency, Ashbourne, menswear from Mc Kenna Man, plus outfits for the mothers of the Bride/Groom from Jacqui's Boutique, Drogheda.

One for the Hols

Looking for a good Summer read? Check out Michelle Jackson's debut novel Two Days in Biarritz (Poolbeg €9.99.) All about friendship, love, betrayal and the vagaries of life; it's a perfect poolside cocktail.

Models at the recent British Bridal Exhibition Harrogate were sporting the most original accessory of all, pale skin. Yes ladies you read correctly, it would appear that tans – be they fake or natural – are on the way out. Pale and interesting is back. Time to get body brushing and moisturising, pale might be interesting but it doesn't hide any blemishes.

Artist at work

If your usual make-up routine involves putting on a bit of slap and watching it slide off your face throughout the day then you might want to consider investing in a professional for your big day! Aisling Eyre has over 20 years experience working for celebrities such as Sarah Ferguson, Duchess of York; Christina Aguilera and working on covers for titles like Hello and of course Love & Marriage. Aisling's forte is her attention to detail and personal approach but to see for yourself check out her video portfolio on www.makeupbyash.com.
